What do I think?

---

- There is no such thing as a normal brain

What do we think?

---

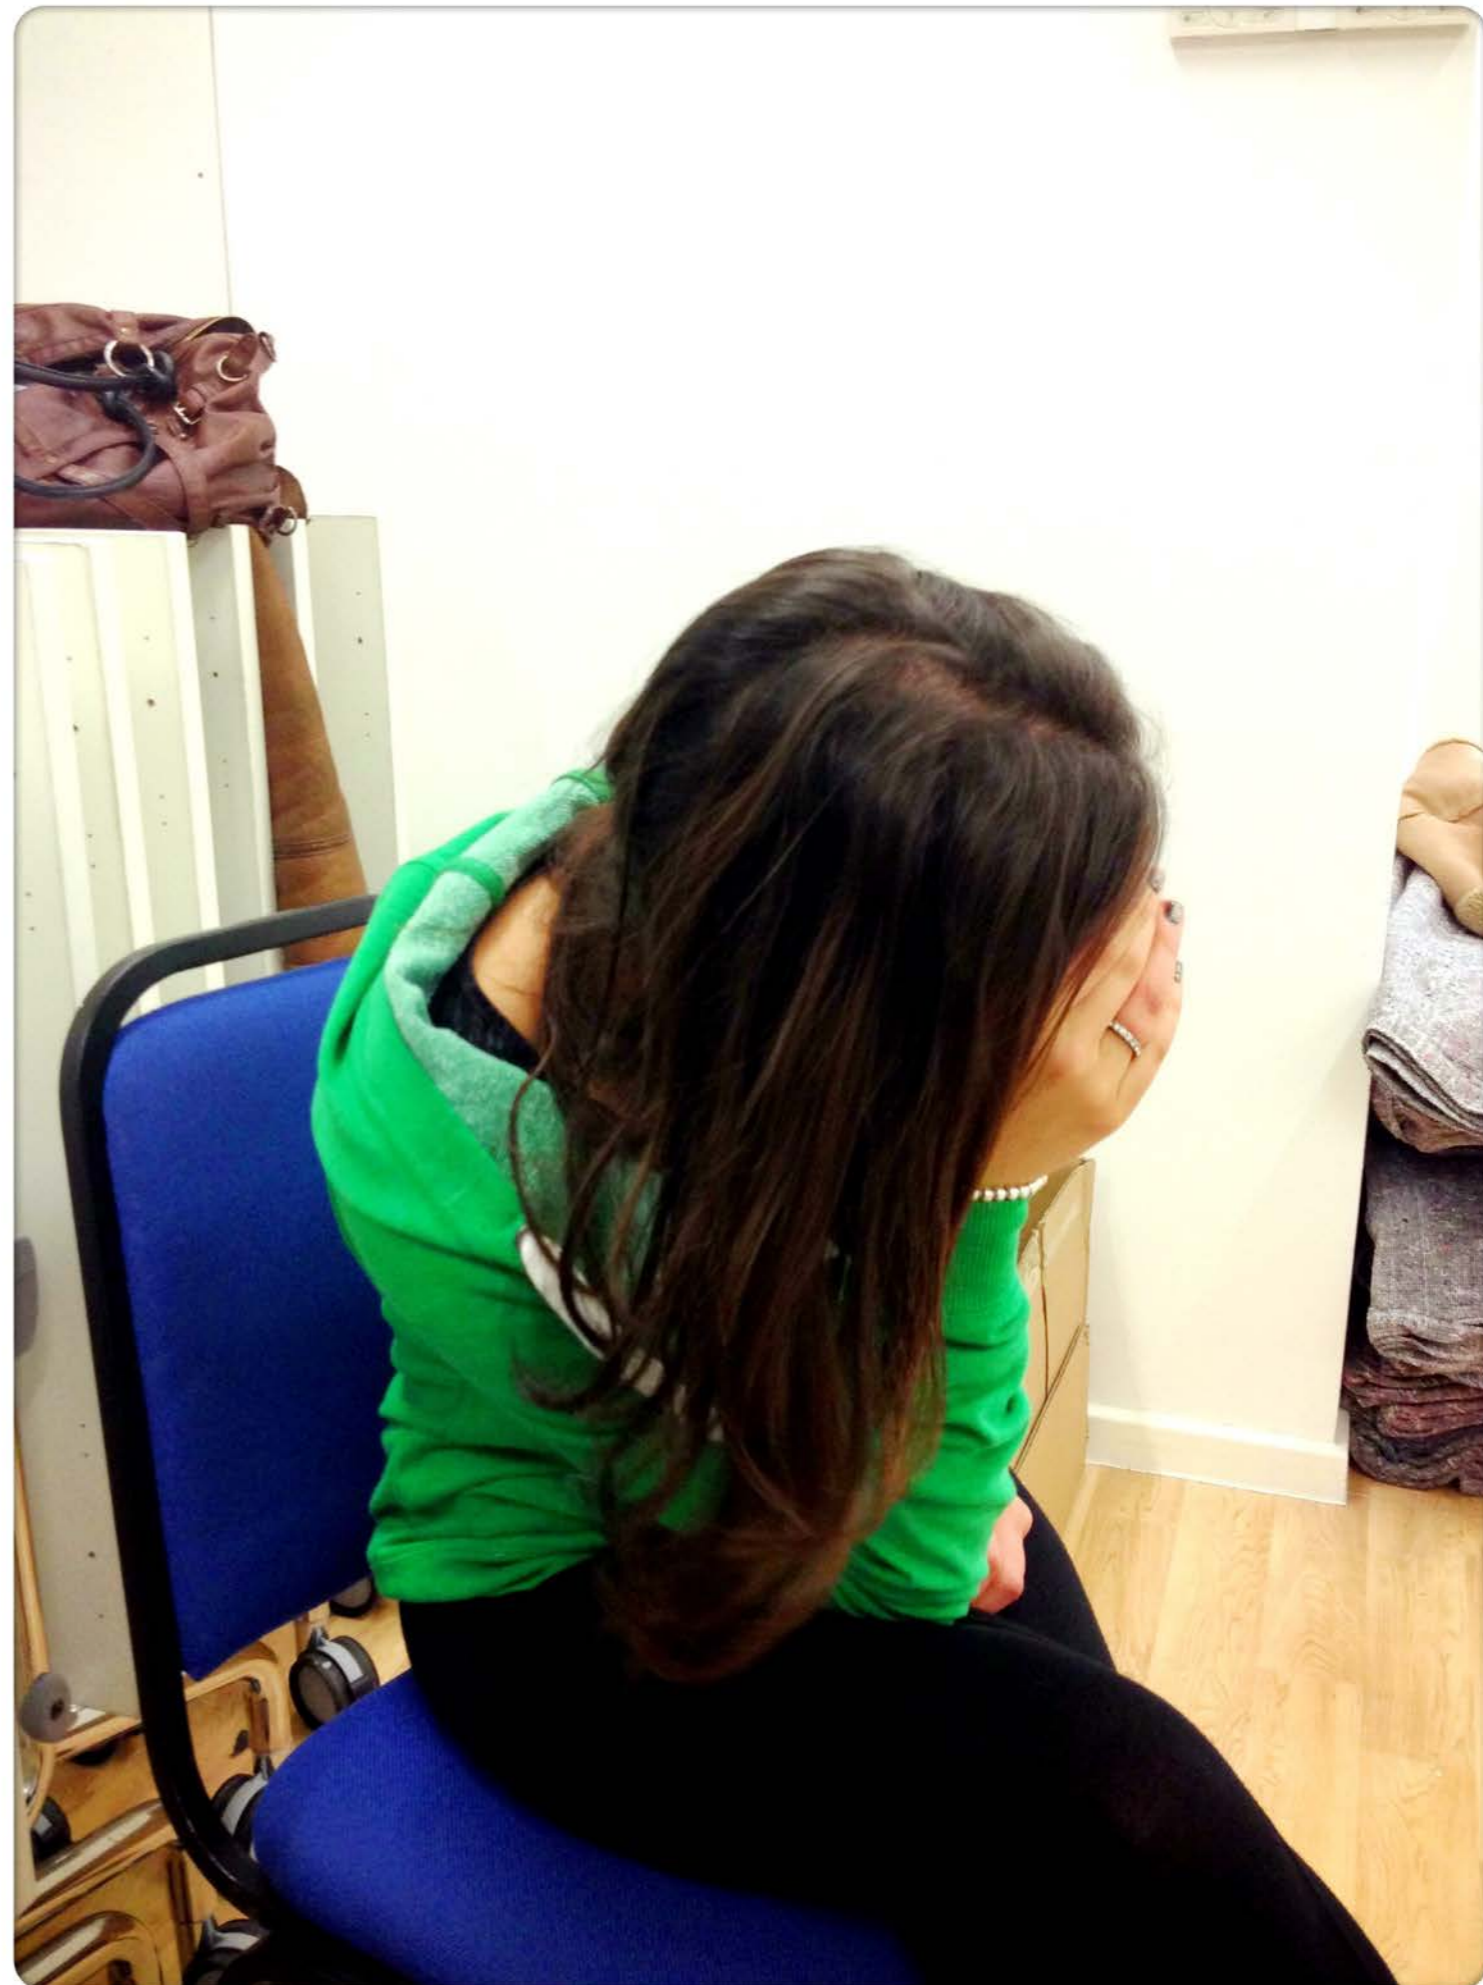

- Courts should be allowed to use brain scanners to decide whether a defendant is lying or not

What do we think?

---

- if brain imaging is able to detect conscious thought in people with locked in syndrome their life machines should not be shut off

What do we think?

---

- If I could I would have a chip implanted into my brain to play computer games

What do I think?

---

- Patients should accept Deep brain stimulation if they have a disease or disorder that the treatment will make manageable even if it changes their personality

What do we think?

---

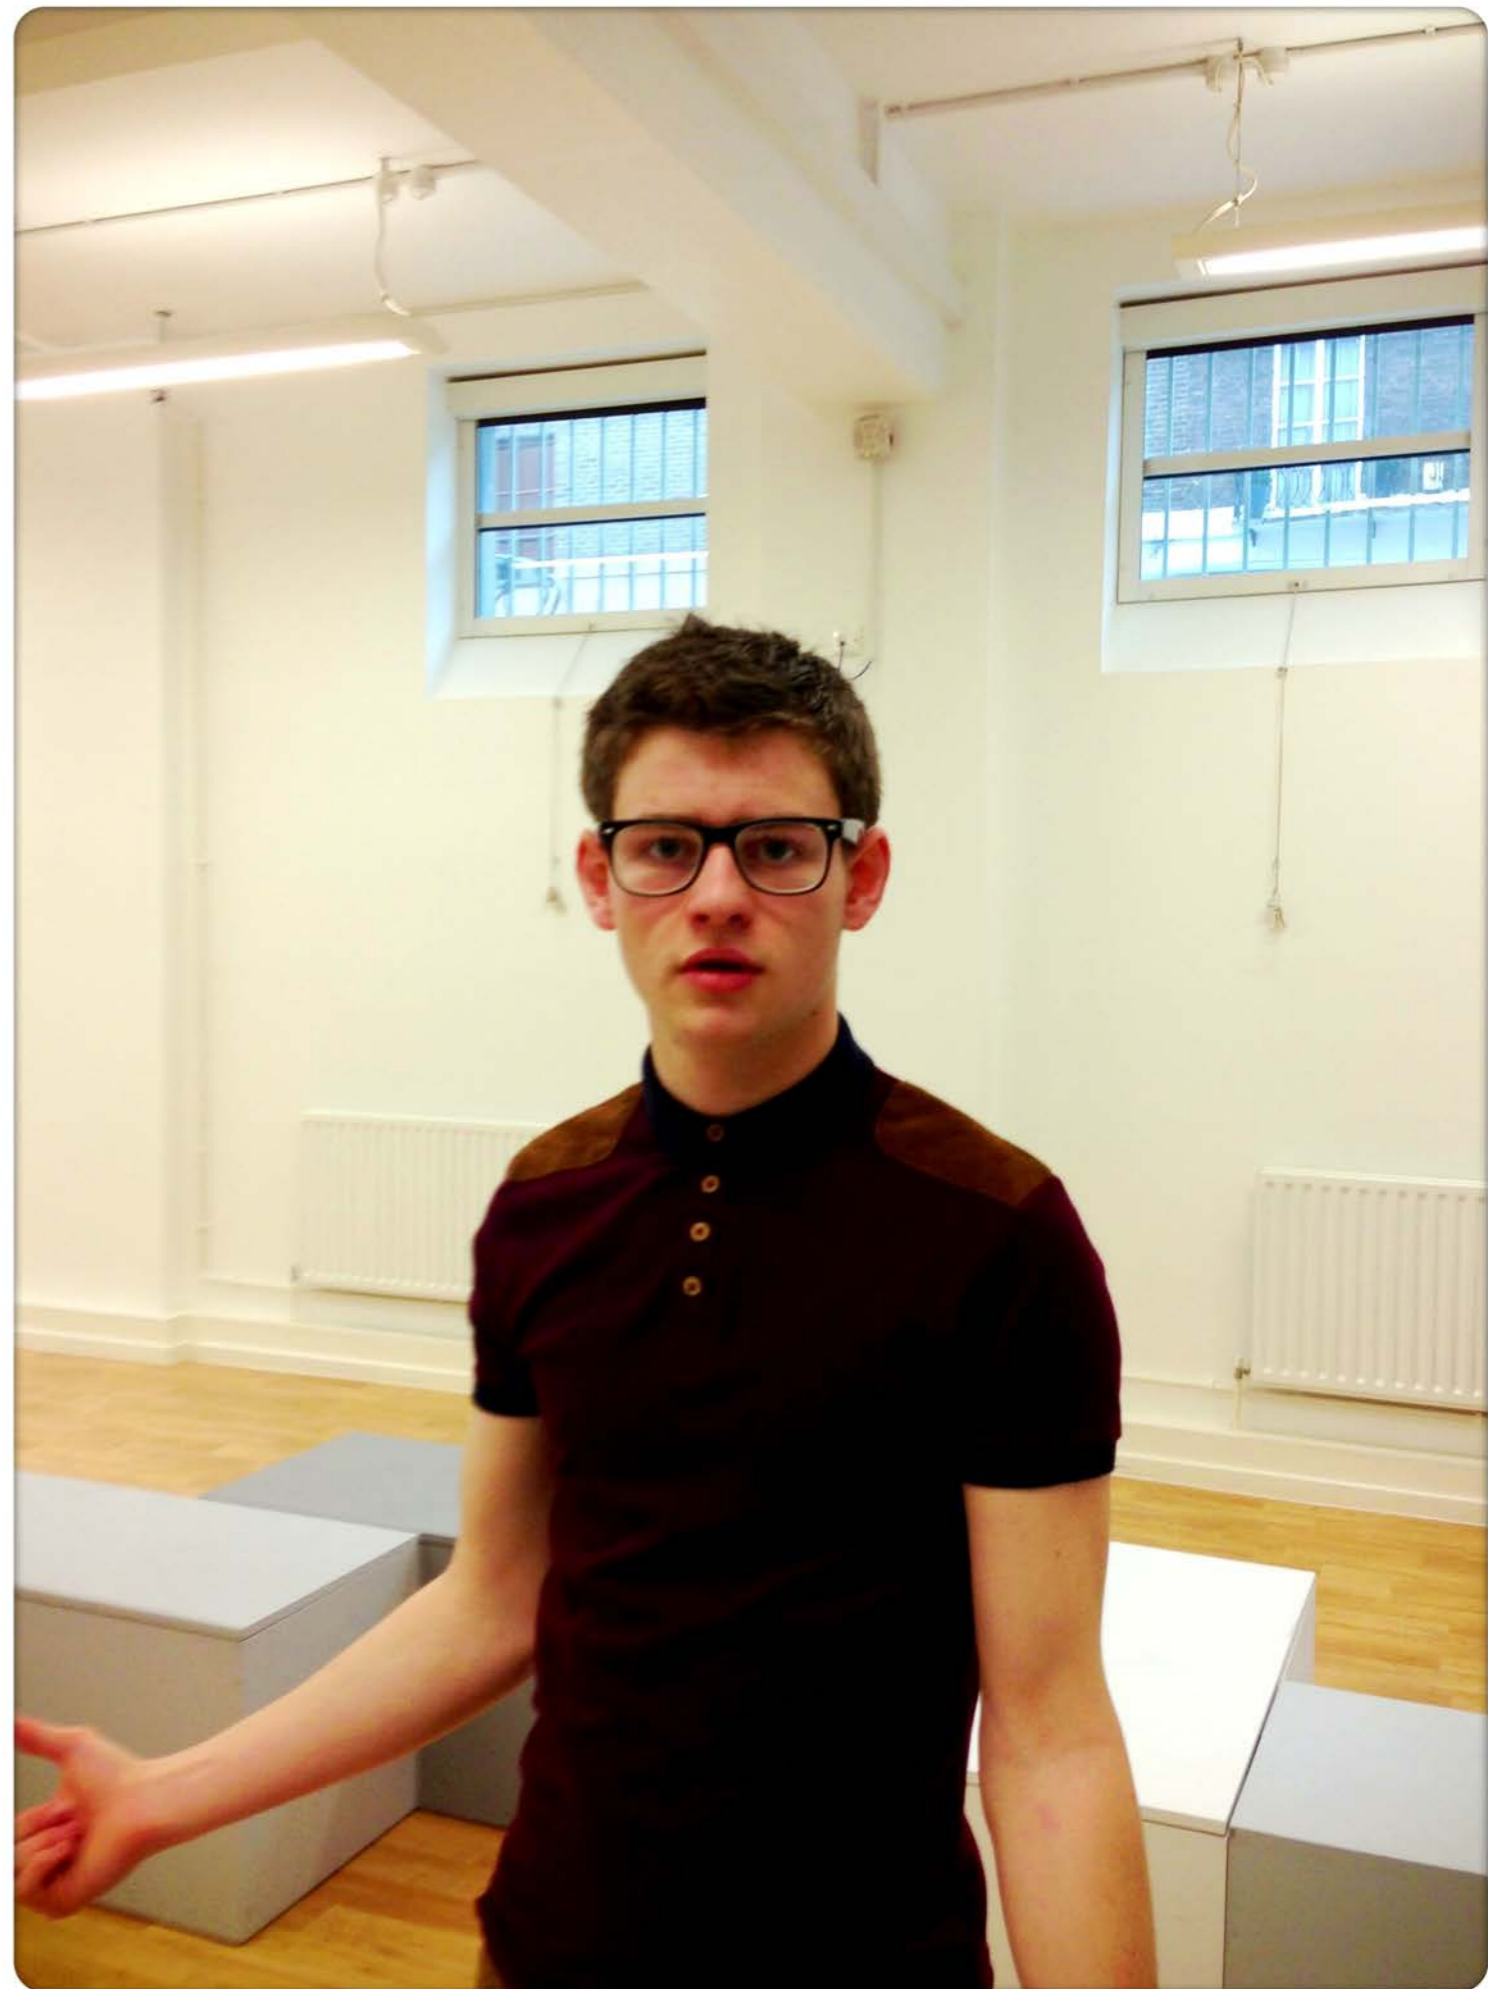

- Brain implants to enhance our performance and abilities would be a good thing

What do we think?

---

- There is no such thing as free will
